Fusion: Ancient Persia and Contemporary Iran
A traveller's impression of Iran during Norouz 1392 (March and April 2013)

The first time I travelled to Iran I was struck by marked contrast between what I saw, what I know from Persian family and friends and what I hear in the media (both inside and outside of Iran).

On this second journey, eight years later, the contrast remains but alongside it I found an emergent and vibrant fusion between ancient Persia and the contemporary world external to Iran. Come along on a journey of discovery, the imagery and sounds of Iran in 1392 / 2013.

Kristin Diemer (Sociologist and Photographer) is a co-facilitator at OASES Graduate School and research fellow at the University of Melbourne.

🕒 When: Saturday May 4th 2013 from 9am to 11:30am
📍 Where: OASES - 2 Minona St Hawthorn VIC 3122
👩‍💼 Who: Kristin Diemer
💳 Cost: $15/$25 includes full breakfast buffet

Register: oases.edu.au/breakfast or call 03 9819 3502